

Jet Infosystems Extends Its Expertise in Solutions Suited for Insurance Companies by Joining Guidewire PartnerConnect Alliance Program

January 27, 2015

MOSCOW & FOSTER CITY, Calif.--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Jan. 27, 2015-- Jet Infosystems, a full-service systems integrator, and Guidewire Software, Inc. (NYSE:GWRE), a provider of software products to general insurers, today announced that Jet Infosystems has received Guidewire PartnerConnect Consulting status. Such status verifies special expertise that allows this systems integrator to implement and enhance Guidewire's solutions to suit the needs of insurance companies. In addition, Jet Infosystems is now able to consult with its clients regarding implementation strategy in relation to Guidewire products.

Guidewire's flexible core systems (collectively Guidewire InsuranceSuite™) support insurance company business processes across their lifecycle – underwriting, policy administration, billing, claims, and reinsurance management. Guidewire software products allow not only the automation and management of different insurance programs but also facilitate the building of unique insurance packages.

Jet Infosystems provides technical support services and all the services involved in system integration and data migration when implementing Guidewire InsuranceSuite modules.

"Many insurance companies are still using disparate solutions which are only capable of automating separate insurance products, predominantly developed in-house by their IT departments. Such products are not always well up-scaled; some of them are obsolete," explained Maria Ushanova, executive manager, Insurance Expertise and Retail Center for Software Solutions, Jet Infosystems. "Our partnership with Guidewire will allow us to provide insurance companies with a powerful and modern tool for handling business processes and building unique products for their clients."

"We really appreciate the prospect of co-operating with this significant Russian system integrator company," commented Chris Elsmore, Guidewire Software, vice president, Global Alliances and Business Development. "Jet Infosystems' expertise in IT solutions, combined with a thorough knowledge of the insurance sector will help enable the successful implementation of our products."
